

The ORANGE SHOW

Houston, Texas

August 15th, 2019

with Steve Rassenfoss

The ORANGE SHOW

- The ORANGE SHOW is the Watts Towers of Houston, Texas. Jeff McKissack, a mail carrier in Houston, Texas, transformed a vacant lot into a sculpture garden in honor of his favorite fruit, the orange. Its colors are the theme for his paint jobs, with orange rims on the tractor wheels for the rinds, and yellow spokes for the septa between the pulp. His bright colors and tractor seats are right up my alley! Enjoy the show through my eyes!
- Learn more about the Orange Show from Wikipedia by clicking here!
- And here is Wikipedia's take on the Watts Towers.

The little blue Honda Fit in the background was the Rassenfoss's and mine chariot to the Hotter Than Hell Festival!

Tractor Seat
Auditorium!

Another
Tractor Seat Auditorium!

Steamboat in a Roulette Wheel Pond

Steamboat
Coming
'Round
De Bend

CAUTIOUS
NOW

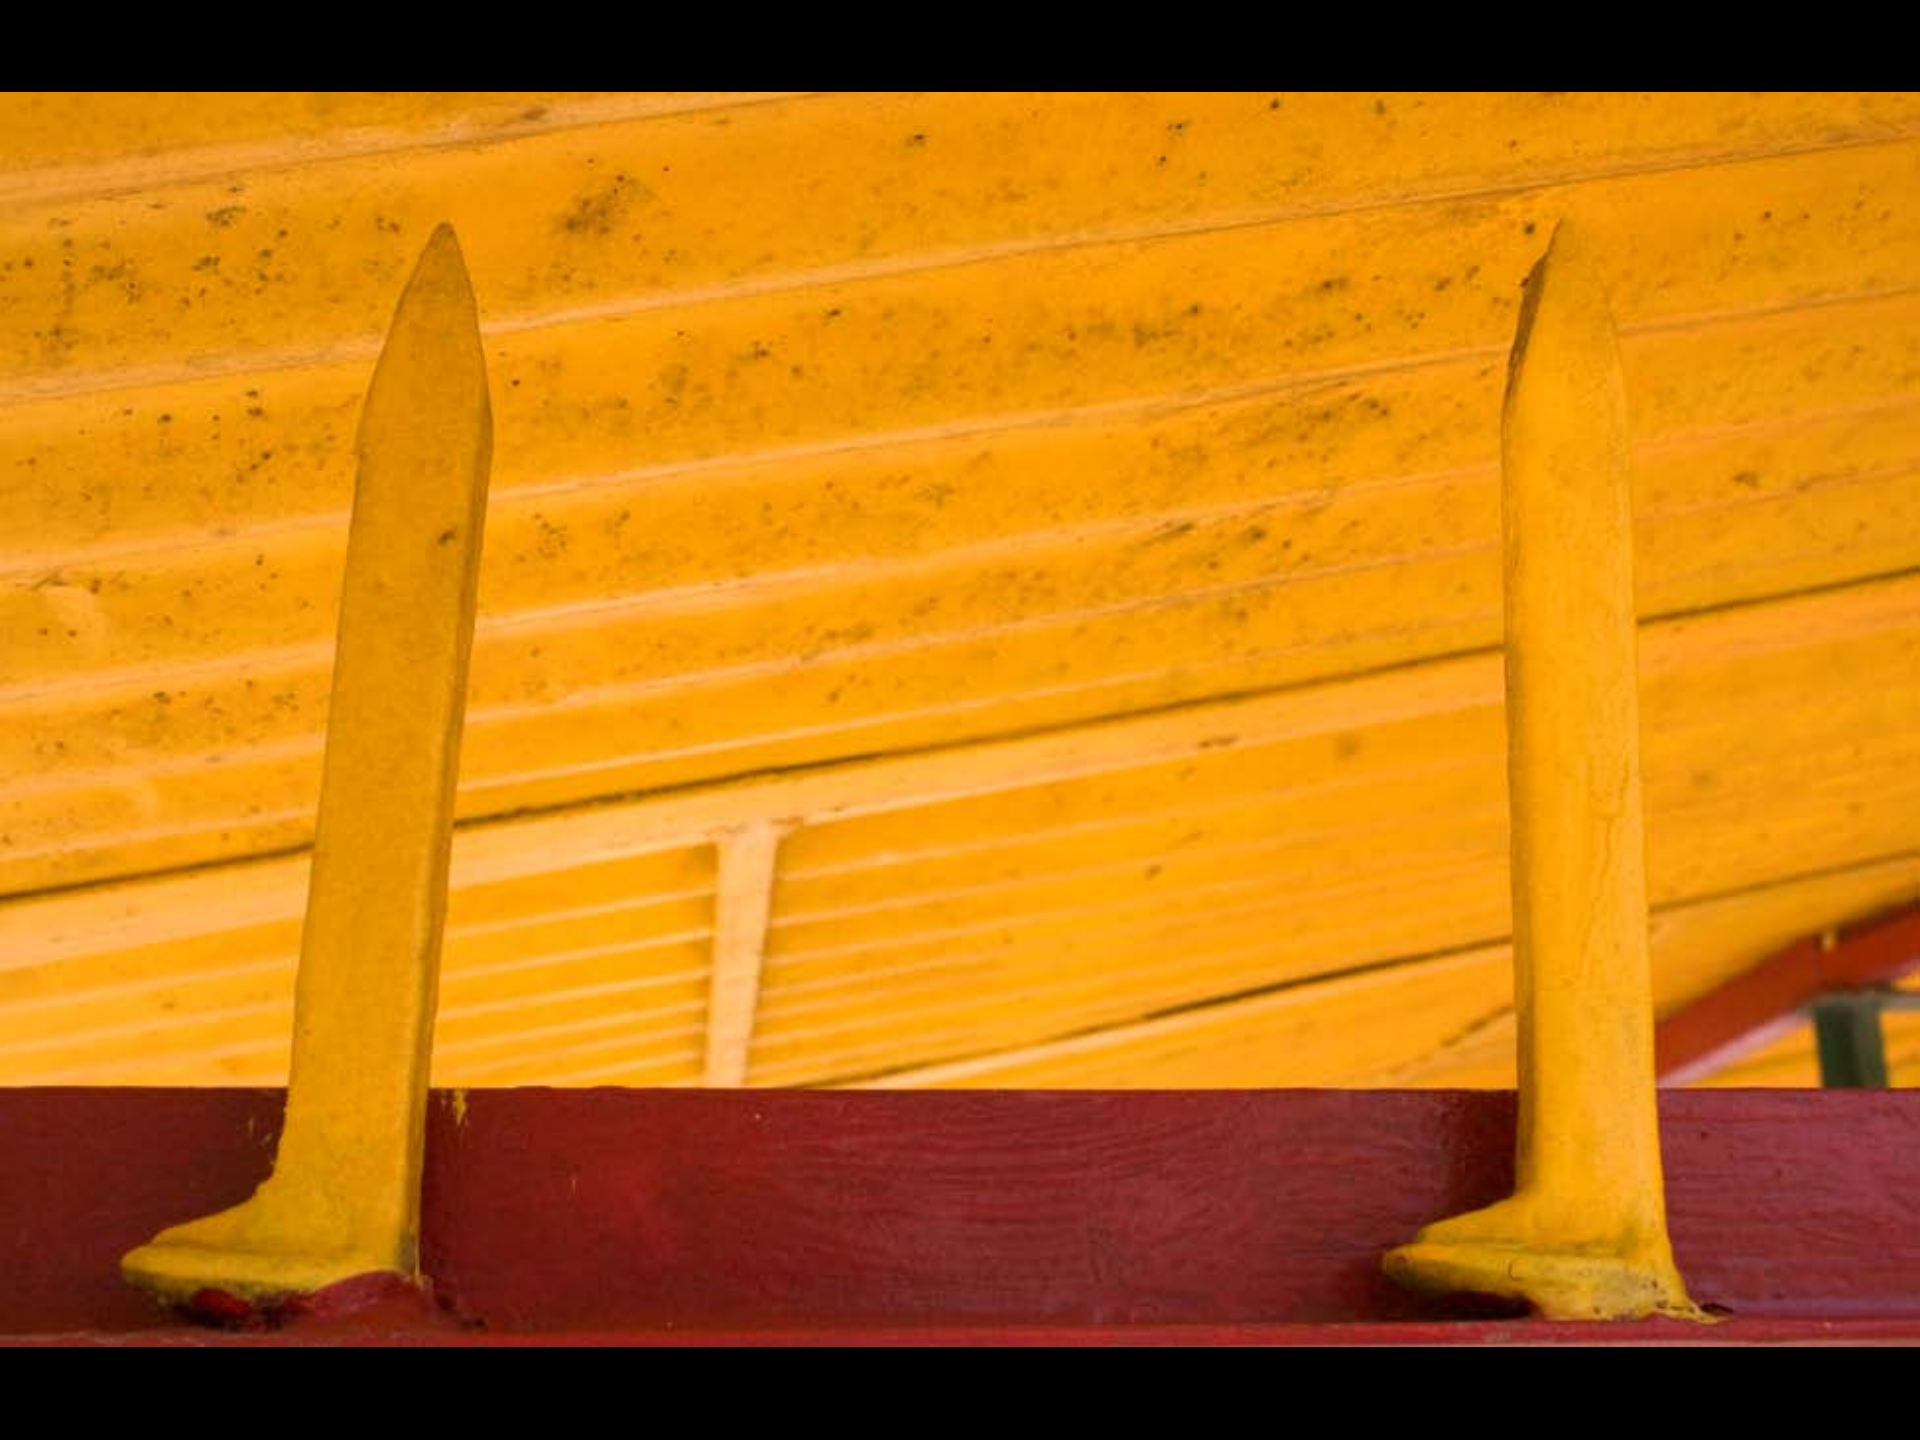

The Foundation
also hosts the Art Car Show; this is a detail of its totem pole across the street. Next time in Houston
I will go to that Museum!